

g33kWatch SLUMBER PARTY

It's Our Party, and We'll Game if We Want To!

On June 4th g33kWatch, the same team who brought you the Mass Effect Marathon, is holding the first annual 24-Hour Slumber Party which will set out to have fun, wear pajamas, and donate money to the Child's Play Charity. Visitors are encouraged to come watch a team of gamers play through over 12 co-op & party games over the span of one full day, and donate money through the site to Child's Play, a charity that raises over two million dollars to Children's Hospitals worldwide every year.

Viewers are asked to donate money via the marathon website, and as the dollar total rises, donation levels will be passed. Each of these donation levels will force the players to perform a stunt, or unlock an alternate costume a player must wear for the rest of the marathon. Viewers are encouraged to participate by e-mail, Twitter, or by live internet chat, where they can ask questions of the players, make requests, sponsor a specific player's exploits, and enter to win prizes.

For more information, go to <http://slumberparty.g33kwatch.com/>

June 4, 2011 @ 12:00 PM ET

<http://slumberparty.g33kwatch.com/>

Where Gamers Give Back

Child's Play
www.childsplaycharity.org